

From Pastor Bill

The arrival of Summer means the encounter with the patriotic days of our country. Memorial Day, when we remember those who have died in our many wars, and the Fourth of July, when we celebrate the independence of our nation, come to us at the beginning and in the middle of the Summer. These are meaningful days that are worthy of our attention.

These two days, though, are not religious holidays. They are national ones, a truth that we who are Christians must pay attention to. The church and the nation are two separate realities. Sadly, some people forget that. These days quite a few people forget that. Those who are promoting Christian nationalism are really practicing heresy when they insist that the nation and Christian faith are linked. The early church would have been filled with horror by this bad theological move. The cross and the flag are not two sides of the same coin. The cross is what happens to those who cause problems for the nation.

Now all of this is not to suggest that patriotism is a bad thing. I don't think it is. But I believe we must be careful how we frame patriotism. Let's be honest. Patriotism is not the natural habitat for Christian faith. The flag is not our primary symbol. But where we come from, the geography we get to walk on, the people we get to do life with—these matter deeply for who we are.

It's worth our while celebrating who we are. It's a good thing to note our "spacious skies, our amber waves of grain." It's healthy to remember those who sacrificed their lives for a greater cause, even if war is nothing to applaud, but something to mourn. It's fun to rejoice with exuberance in the idea of freedom that has characterized much of our nation's history. It's important to remember that we are not human beings in general, but humans with all kinds of particularity.

But as we do so, we ought not to think that our particularity is somehow more important than that of others. It's a good thing to be an American, but it's also a good thing to be a Swede, an Egyptian, a Kenyan, or a Brazilian. We're all in this together. We are no better than anyone else. The church and the nation are not co-equals. The church contains people of every ethnicity, race, and nation. I find convincing those who say that perhaps church buildings should not have one particular national flag, but flags that represent all of the nations.

From Pastoral Assistant Paula

It's hard to believe we are entering the summer months and as many of you know it's my favorite season. I love the sun, the warm sand between my toes and long walks on the shores of Lake Michigan. This has been an incredibly busy year for the church. We have hosted many events, confirmed six of our confirmation students, traveled through the church seasons with neighboring churches and said goodbye to many friends and family members in our congregation as their journey has come to an end. We are incredibly blessed to be church during this critical time in our history.

However, to be church today means not giving up meeting during the summer months, keeping up our giving and serving so others in our community can eat and continuing our calling to live in solidarity with our neighbors in Gaza, the West Bank and Ukraine. And what exactly does that look like while we head into the summer season? Consider joining our book study on three consecutive Tuesdays in June, the 10th, 17th, and the 24th. This will be a hybrid class which means you can attend in person or via online. The class will begin at 10:00 am and convene for one hour. Online participants will need a zoom link. Please email me, Paula Dusseljee, for an invitation.

A second opportunity to learn more about the struggles and devastation of our Palestinian friends in the Holy Land will be to attend the showing of the Academy Award-winning documentary, No Other Land. We have secured a screening of the film through Wealthy Theater in Grand Rapids with two showings on Sunday, June 22 at 2:00 and 6:00 pm. Please note the flyer included in this edition of the Chimes with more details to follow on the First Lutheran website. This is a powerful film produced by a young Israeli man and his Palestinian friend in the West Bank filmed in real time. Please join us for this important film.

I hope this summer also brings you rest, enjoyment and a heavy dose of fresh air! And a trip to the beach!

Blessings, hope and peace,
Paula

From Shar Music 'Notes'

Music at Church

Greetings! As our usual church music peeps take a well-deserved break over the Summer, once again I am asking you to consider sharing your own musical gifts with us! I have a sign-up sheet posted on the music room door. On the date you plan to share, put your name, instrument/voice and title of the piece if you have one. If you would like me to help you choose some music, let me know. This opportunity is open to all.

Talent Show!

First Lutheran Church is well-known for its vast pool of diverse talent! Don't hide that talent under a basket. Consider 'flaunting your stuff,' on Friday, October 17, 2025. The Music Ministry will be hosting a talent show at 6:00 p.m. This year the show is entitled "Three Courses." The first 'course' of the evening will include savory finger food (no fingers please!) and some great openers on the stage. The second 'course' will feature some sustaining and tasty talent. The third 'course' will be comprised of sweet delights. "No dinner??!!" you say? Don't worry! All essential food groups will be featured. There will be plenty for all.

Yes, it's early, but start working on your act now; the competition is as stiff as the peaks on a Baked Alaska! Sign-ups will be in the music room. No one is too young or too old! Team Ziemelis (the young version) stole the show last year!

Dave and Theresa Buchan

We recently hosted a Vintage Tea Party to benefit Every Women's Place. Steph's Steps was there to show us a ballroom dance, and many participated in learning the steps. In attendance were the Lakeshore Victorian Ladies. Thank you, all ladies and one gent, for attending and dressing up in your finery, dress and/or hat. It was truly a beautiful event. Many personal care items were collected and will be brought to Every Woman's Place along with a check for $250. Thank you to all that worked setting up, preparing the food and cleaning up for this event. It takes a village, and we have an awesome one.

Regards,
